Big Sip Craft Beverage & Food Festival

This festival benefits the following non-profit 501c(6), inc. Stepping Stone Canine Rescue, Distillers Association of NC, NC Brewers Guild, Triad Brewers Alliance and also the Winston-Salem Jaycees. Sponsored by Our Local Media, Piedmont Local.

As with the previous events, this event will be well promoted through local, and regional wide publications, social media and other mass media including all area iHeart radio stations. Further information will be available at PiedmontLocalNC.com and BigSipFest.com.

The number of samples each ticket holder can test will be left to the discretion of each individual vendor. We have applied for and received our NC ABC Special One Time Permit allowing us to provide samples/tastings of wines, brews and spirits. Wineries are free to use their own pourers & have the option to sell your wines, by the bottle or case. Distilleries may provide information about their products, but must have a Big Sip volunteer on hand to pour samples, and may not sell by the glass or bottle. All vendors have the opportunity to sell accessories, clothing, or other related items at your table.

LOAD-IN INSTRUCTIONS!

LARGE LOAD? Pull your vehicle into the large drive-under loading dock, lower (street) level on Marshall Street. You'll be able to unload materials into the PIEDMONT 4 HALL, then move your vehicle to a street space or nearby parking deck.

- Advantages: Under cover the whole way, no weather to contend with.
- Drawbacks: Unloading space is limited, so you'll need to load your things into your exhibit space fast, move your vehicle, then return to finish sprucing up your space.

Guidelines

- NC holds a zero tolerance policy on any employee or volunteer drinking any amount while working at the booth. If you are behind a serving table, you will be assumed to be working.
- You will be in violation if you were seen to have been drinking prior to your shift at the brewery booth.
- If you are wearing your branded attire, you will be considered “to be working”, and not eligible to consume. Once your booth shift is over, you can “unbrand” and become a festival patron and eligible to consume - however, you may not return to work in any function at the beverage booth for the remainder of the event.
- While an employee is allowed to wear branded attire at their nonprofit organization festival booth, if they do, they will be considered working, and a rep for the beverage, and will be held responsible for violations.
- A beverage representative who is not officially “working” may set-up and take-down their own equipment, as long as they are not participating, or coming in contact with, the service of the product in any way. Within this allowance, the brewer or brewery representative cannot serve any function to their booth aside from equipment set-up and break-down.
- Note that care should be taken not to make test pours available, i.e. setting them on the serving table or jockey box, as this could be viewed as service, and consequently a violation.
- Within this provision, the brewer, distiller is advised not to bring attention to him/herself as being intoxicated.
- If you are serving customers, quality control tasting is not allowed. However, if the beverage representative believes something is wrong (e.g. a compromised keg, or line), they should notify an on-site ALE agent and receive permission before taking a quality control sample.
- Do not serve someone who is obviously intoxicated. If you are not comfortable making this call, please ask for event security or police to assist

By signing this form, you understand and agree to comply with document(s) and verbiage below outlining legal procedures with respect to the festival.
